

Universal Children's Day

The little angels of RGS had a gala time as Universal Children's Day was celebrated with great gusto on 20th November 2015 at the D' Royal Colloseum. The teaching fraternity of this institution came together to exhibit a medley of events that made the kids sing, dance and sway. The programme began with an address by the Principal, Mrs Anubha Goyal, who enlightened the young crowd about the significance of this special day and then went on to create awareness about the different kinds of dangers lurking in society that threaten to abuse and destroy the innocence of these little ones. Her speech was followed by a short animated film produced by Childline that further propagated this message against child abuse and presented measures to tackle and counter such menace.

After such a hard-hitting spell of reality check, the ambience was transformed by a comical enactment that was greatly enjoyed by the kids as many were seen toppling with laughter. This was followed by a succession of events comprising of songs, dance and instrumental performances in which the teachers exhibited their innate talents and proved they can do so much more than simply teach. The highlight of the programme however was a Ramp-Walk wherein the teachers set the stage on fire as they strode on stage dressed in traditional attires representing various states of India and celebrating the ethnic diversity that prevails in our country. The students' joy knew no bounds to witness Principal Maam walking onstage as the showstopper herself. It was indeed heart-warming to watch each of these young souls light up with smiles and happiness as they spread the bliss of innocence and simplicity as the curtains fell down on yet another entertaining and successful programme of this esteemed institution.
